Mr. HENRY FINK, the head of the East Tennessee, describes the relations between the two corporations.

Vice President RUTHERFORD speaks for the immediate management of the Richmond Terminal.

Knowing the great interest felt by the people in these matters, THE CONSTITUTION on Monday night wired Mr. E. W. Barrett to proceed from Washington to New York, and to get at the bottom facts. This he did, and the very satisfactory result follows:

The Trip to New York TO FIND OUT THE TRUE STATUS OF RICHMOND TERMINAL AFFAIRS.

NEW YORK, January 5 .- [Special.]-General Sam Thomas, Calvin Brice, young George Gould and several others have gotten control of the Richmond Terminal and all the railroad properties that com-pany owns and controls. They have ousted the two Calhouns-John C. and Pat-that is they ousted them from the control of the Georgia Central, one of the Terminal's roads, and they immediately resigned from their other offices, except from the board of Terminal directors. Of course this is the sensation of Wall street, as it is of Georgia and all the south.

John H. Inman remains just where he was. Indeed, the Inmans and the Calhouns have dissolved and Mr. Inman and his other old associates are now with the Brice-Thomas element. Personally the Inmans and Calhouns are yet decidedly friendly. The Calhouns are in the Terminal directory yet and there is going to be war in that board yet, although the Calhouns are in the minority.

Confidence in Mr. Inman.

Colonel John H. Inman will remain as president of the Richmond Terminal Company and the Richmond and Danville system of railroads for the present. He might remain president permanently. General Sam Thomas and Mr. Brice have great confidence in his ability, but one of Mr. lnman's friends told me that he had sacrificed much for the company, and when a suitable man can be found home with the grip for three weeks, and has not attended any of the recent meetings. He was at his office a few minutes today for the first time, but said he was too ill to discuss either the Terminal situation or the ousting of

Will Remain in Atlanta.

From another director I learned that alough rumor has been to the contrary, the headquarters of the operating department of the road will remain in Atlanta, and that the system will hereafter be under the absolute control of three men, General Manager W. H. Green, Traffic Manager Sol Haas and Vice dent Andrews. These men will operate the road according to their own ideas as practical railroad men. The talk of General Manager Green being succeeded by Cecil Gabbett is bosh. Captain Green is a fixture. All the directors and officers consider him the best man in the country for the place, and I have it from a half-dozen that he is in for life. There is some talk about the offices here as to whether General Alexander will remain at the head of the Central organization. A slight fight has been made on him, but the board will take no action now, and I have it quite authoritatively that he will remain, at least for

Now as to the ousting of the Calhouns from the Central directory—the sensational phase of the Terminal complications. Numbers of reasons have been given and a wonderful smount of ill feeling has been stirred up here as well as at home over it. One of the principal reasons assigned is Pat Calhoun's political as pirations and past contests in Georgia.

A Published Interview. The New York papers have much speculative matter about it. The Times has an interview from Sayannah with General Alexander in which he says: "I knew three months ago that the Calhoun were to be dropped, regardless of developments since. I furnished the names of their successors, as developed today, before this dividend quar-Calhoun's insinuation that the Richmond Terminal will wreck the Central is unfortunate and improbable. They paid $8,-000,000 for the stock of the Central, which they hold, and through which they control it. They know, as I know from years of experience, that $10 can ultimately be made by the honest management of such a property as the Central where $1 would be made by trickery and dishonest workings. Because they have so much invested, and so much at stake, I say the Richmond and Danville would not wreck the road, as Mr. Calhoun says they propose doing, even if they could."

This led to a telegraphic correspondence be tween General Alexander and the Calhouns which has been going on today, and might deslop some interesting features later.

The Story in The Sun. The Sun has a story in which it said:

"The report of the committee was then voted upon, and by the votes of the same gentlemen who opposed the election of the old board was adopted. The issue was squarely drawn and I determined to check those gentlemen in the outrageous programme they were pursuing by vigorous action. I offered my resignation as general southern counsel, and demanded its immediate acceptance.

"Mr. Brice and the other members of the

"Mr. Brice and the other members of the board requested me to withhold it at least interests of the south and shake public confidence to its very foundations.

"I had heard it intimated before I went into the board meeting that there would be a clean sweep of the old Central board, with the exception of General Alexander, and the power that the committee asked for to make further changes clearly indicated to my mind the pur pose of attempting to carry out their declared intention of putting in a board who would obey their demands and turn over to them the assets of the Central road. After my resignation and my vigorous protest the board seeme to realize the danger in which they were plac-ing themselves, but I had no positive assurance at the time my letter was written that they had entirely abandoned their purposes.

"Do you mean, Mr. Calhoun, to imply that if the committee had reported the board elected on Monday for the Central railroad that you would not have resigned?"

"I not only imply it, but state it most emphatically. My resignation as general southern counsel was not brought about by the fact Mr. Pat Calhoun did not seem at all annoyed over what has occurred. Indeed, he appeared make it appear that my letter to the people of Georgia was caused by the fact that my name was dropped from the list of the Central di-

"Certainly. The misrepresentations that have been made render it entirely proper. Mr. Brice, as chairman of the committee appointed to nominate a board for the Central, reported that the action of the board of directors of the Central railroad, in refusing to accede to the wishes of the Terminal board to deliver Central securities to the Richmond and Danville company, rendered it necessary for the Terminal company to elect at least a majority of the Central directors, who would carry out its de-

He then stated that his committee had so far agreed upon the following names: V. E. Mc-Ree, the Richmond and Danville general superintendent of the Central railroad division; G. M. Sorrell, general manager of the Ocean Steamship Company; John W. Hall, treasurer of the Richmond and Danville road; J. P. Minetree, general purchasing agent of the Richmond and Danville road; Myron Johnston, a gentleman whom I do not place; J. C. Maben, James Swann, Hugh Inman, C. H. Phinizy, E. P. Alexander, U. B. Harrold and Jacob Rouers; but that on behalf of the committee he would ask the board to give authority to make any further change the committee thought advisable in order that the Terminal company would be certain that its wishes and demands would be carried out. The records of the Terminal company will show that the above list of names is the board proposed for the Central road by the committee. "As soon as Mr. Brice had submitted his report I stated that it was a surprise to me to attempt to elect officials of the Richmond and Danville road to the Central board, when there was a large claim growing out of the operation of that road by the Richmond and Danville: would be extremely detrimental to the Terminal company, and to the railroad interests generally in the south, that such an action could not approve, and I made alvigorous protest against it. I stated that the directors of the Central road were gentlemen of high character and that I was positive they would at all times be readylto do everything that was egitimate and proper to further the interests of the Terminal company, but that they could not be expected to take the securities of their company from its treasury and deliver them to the Richmond and Danville road.

The Brakes Put On.

"I further stated that the present directors of the Terminal company were only temporarily elected; that the board knew my position was that all the important railroad boards should be at the disposal of the permanent management which is to be elected at the meeting of the stockholders to be held later on. I stated I was perfectly satisfied that no gentleman sitting on the Central board would care to remain there in opposition to the wishes of a majority of the stockholders, but that we owed it to ourselves and to them to treat them with proper courtesy. I then offered the following resolution:

"Resolved, That the proxy of this company be directed to vote the stock owned by it in the Central Railroad of Georgia at the annual election Central Railroad of Georgia at the annual election of that company, to be held in Savannah, Ga., on January 4th, for the present board of directors, with the understanding that the resignations of the directors thus elected will be at the disposal of the permanent board of this company, so that changes may hereafter be made in that board in accordance with the wishes of the permanent board, if such changes may be desired.

"Upon this resolution I demanded the yeas and navs, and it was lost by a vote of 7 to 3.

and nays, and it was lost by a vote of 7 to 3. Those voting yea were John C. Calhoun, James Swann and myself. Those voting against it were Messrs. Brice, Moore, McGhee, Maben, Rutherford, Logan and Strong. These were the only members present, except Mr.
Wormser, who declined to vote.
"The report of the committee was then voted

ATLANTA, GA., WEDNESDAY MORNING, JANUARY 6, 1892.

until Monday to see if the differences between us could not be adjusted. I stated in reply us could not be adjusted. I stated in reply that our differences seemed to me too radical, from the fact that they grew out of our different conceptions of right and wrong; that I could not be put in the position of advocating the election of the board nominated by the committee. I felt that the time for positive action had come, and while I do not for a moment think that the Richword and Danville. ment think that the Richmond and Danville, officials named by the Terminal board could be made to deliver over the Central assets, I felt that the election of such a board at this time in Georgia, with the public sentiment inflamed by default on the Central dividends and the threatened default on its securities, would seriously endanger the entire railroad that my brother and myself were dropped from the Central board. For six months I have patiently borne personal annoyances much more serious. I was held out to Georgia some six months ago in the most positive way as vice president, and the public was notified that I was placed in charge. I did not seek the position and consented to accept it only to try and aid Mr. Inman, and to do all in my power to serve the interests I represented and our section of country. The Danville board failed to confirm my nomination and in spite of the fact that there were many things done of which I did not approve, I re mained quiet lest any open rupture on my part might injure the very inter-ests I was trying to serve. The difference between some members of the board and my-self in regard to their breach of faith in breakself in regard to their breach of faith in breaking their pledge to co-operate with the committee appointed by the stockholders, by the use of whose names they were elected to the directory of the Terminal company, was pronounced, and I have never, in public or private conversation, characterized their action as severely as I did in the Terminal board meeting, and yet I did not resign. My object in not coming to an open reature with now in not coming to an open rupture with my associates who differed from me because I thought all interests-both that of the companies I represented and that of the public— were best served by my silence. I desire, if possible, to exhaust every means to secure harmony among all the varied interests represented by the Terminal company, and I was ready, at any time, to make any personal sacrifice to secure that end. But when the Terminal directors attempted to do what cannot be justified, such a protest as would check them became necessary.".

General Alexander's Statement. "What have you to say in reference to Gen-extremely improbable?" "He could not so characterize the statement that I am not in accord with a majority of the present board of the Terminal company; nor the fact that these gentlemen have broken faith with the stockholders who elected them and repudiated their pledge to co-operate with mmittee appointed by the stockholders; nor the fact that they defaulted on the Central dividend, which was due under the lease on the 20th of December, and that on Wednesday, the 30th of December, the Danville executive committee declined to meet the obligations of the Central railroad due on the 1st of January unless the Central securities were delivered to the Danville company; nor the fact that the Danville executive committee passed a resolution notifying the Central board of this determination; nor the fact that my brother and myself, on Wednesday and Thursday mornings, arranged for the money to pay these maturing obligations: nor the fact that Mr. Inman left his sick room and came down town on Thursday to prevent such a disgraceful default; nor the fact that it was openly announced in the Terminal hoard meeting on Saturday that a change in the Central board should be made because the existing board had declined to deliver up its securities. "The notes of the minutes of the meeting will show this fact. He seems to differ with me as to the conclusions I draw from these facts. As soon as I saw the dispatch in yesterday's Sun stating that he had deno my statement as, 'to say the least, highly improbable,' I wired him to know if this state ment was true. In reply I have the following telegram from him:

I have not used the words, "denounced" or the expression "to say the least," in reference to you statement, but have said that the motives assigned the Danville board seem to me highly im-

"Of course admitting all the facts, he has a perfect right to draw his own conclusions as to the motives of these gentlemen. If I were approached by a set of determined men, who bore the reputation of having robbed, and told to stand and deliver I should assume that they intended what they said. So when I see gentlemen, who, however unjustly, have been associated with the wrecking of roads entering upon a policy which if pursued would inevitably lead to disastrous results, and who positively declined, on the 30th day of December, to pay obligations maturing two days later and amounting to the large sum of over six hundred thousand dollars, when they knew that the Central was necessarily unprepared to meet such an emergency, her property having been leased to the Danville company which was in possession of all her earnings, I must conclude that they intended the necessary result of their action."

The New Central Directors. "How do you feel about the Central board? "I am of course highly pleased with its com position. I think the selection of General Jackson and Mr. Mills. as large representative minority stockholders, particularly fortunate. My opinion of the old board is best shown by my effort to secure their re-election, as appears from the resolution which I have given you, and by the fact as stated by me in my letter— that they declined to deliver the securities of their company to the Richmond and Danville.

This required firm action in the face of the pressure necessarily brought upon them to prevent, by a delivery of their securities, a default upon the obligations of the Central system on the 1st of January, the disastrous consequences of which can hardly be estimated.

"I am entirely satisfied with the result of my vigorous protest in the Terminal board and the prompt severing of my official connec-tion with the company. I believe now that every Central security holder is perfectly safe as long as the present board remains."

"What is your advice to our people, in view of recent events?"

"Simply to remain quiet and not be frightened out of their securities or take any action that would jeopardize their railroad interests. I believe that we have safely passed through a serious crisis, and I sincerely trust that the gentlemen controlling the Terminal company will so manage its affairs as to gain the confidence of the entire public. I am a great be-liever in the effect of public opinion. I do not believe that any man can be robbed on the public square if his fellow citizens are notified beforehand of the attempt, and I think that the result of the recent differences has been to make Central securities safer than ever. There is no more powerful weapon than publicity.

"You know that my study for years has con vinced me that the best interests of our state and section are to be subserved by the con solidation of the three great systems controlled by the Terminal company, and however much I may be opposed to the methods of those now in control of the Terminal company, this cannot affect the great public interest served by the consolidation of these properties. It is immaterial to the public whether I have been betrayed, deceived, defeated or deposed, their interest remains the same. The people should always watch these with a vigilant eye, but their actions should be governed by that wisdom and moderation which stands as

"Do you intend to remain with the Terminal company?"

"Yes, until a permanent management is elected. I regard the present board as merely holding temporarily until another stock-holders' meeting."

General Thomas Talks.

HE IS WORKING FOR THE BEST INTEREST OF THE STOCKHOLDERS. After seeing the Calhouns, I went into the office of the Terminal company. Cal Brice had gone over to Washington to take his seat as senator, but General Sam Thomas and many of the other directors and officers were there. General Thomas is a handsome man-indeed, his bright eyes, iron-gray mustache and magnificent, erect physique is evidence that he will be the general of whatever he undertakes. His conversation is plain, frank, to cate a great orator were he on the floor of the senate in place of his friend, Colonel Brice.

"There is no change in the relations of the Central and the Richmond and Danville," said he. "So far as the relations of the Cal-houns are concerned, I much prefer that the Calhouns would state the reasons why they were not re-elected as directors of the Central. I am, however, anxious to be quoted in this: Nothing is going on in New York not in the interest of the security holders. We are seeking to have the ablest and most intelligent management of these properties in order to get the best results. It is a mistake to assert that it is for the purpose elevating any particular men or party to power, or for the pur-pose of humiliating or injuring any one. If the changes are made it is done not as a reflection upon any of those who may be dropped out, but in order to secure harmony and co-operation of the largest body of security holders in the work of placing the Terminal properties upon a sound basis

"Some disagreement has existed in the past, disagreement arises from honest differences among business men, and does not carry with it any danger to the properties. We believe the Richmond and West Point Terminal properties to be sound financially, capable of earning all its fixed charges, and that its securities should command a much higher price in the market. We also believe that the Olcott committee, appointed by the stockholders, will present a plan to the public which will so simplify the statement of the securities of the company that the public will be enabled to more thoroughly understand and appreciate the value of these railroad

"The inspiration for the present movement that has attracted so much attention comes entirely from large bodies of stock and bond holders, and not from any particular person. In their efforts to place these properties on a sound basis and under a competent management, changes may be made in the personnel of some of the roads, but the object aimed at is only that which will secure the best service for the people of the south and the best results for the men who own investments in the properties. It is confidently hoped the Olcott nittee, charged with a great and responsible duty, may be able to report within the next ten days. In the meantime, ample funds are on hand to meet all engagements of the various properties and no creditor need feel any alarm about the situation." "What of the Central stock?"

"I know no reason why Central stock should depreciate. On the contrary, the property is likely to have better management in the future than it has ever had before. It is a great property, capable of earning its fixed charges and dividends and the Terminal company, as the owner of a large proportion of the stock, will do everything that is possible by efficiency and economy to make that company earn more money in the future than it has the effect the Terminal changes would have upon his system: "None whatever," said he. "I know nothing whatever about the Terminal affairs except as connected with the East Tennessee. The Terminal people and the East Tennessee people are together. General Thomas is president of our company, and he is in the Terminal, but the East Tennessee stands on its own bottom. General Thomas is a man of great financial backing fully able to carry it, and as changes or rows in the Terminal, too. No changes or rows in the Terminal can affect us in any way. It is true business has not been so good with us on account of the bottom dropping out of some of the southern booms and the low price of cotton, but we are doing fairly well." for that matter the Terminal, 1too.

A strange twist was given the silver question today by the introduction, by Senator Stewart, of a resolution in the senate to investigate the question of whether or not a law passed in 1837, for the coinage of gold and silver deposited in the mints, has ever been invalidated. E. D. Clark, of Cleveland, discovered the statute. and a cursory examination ered the statute, and a cursory examination fails to disclose anything which repeals or vitiates it. Should it turn out that this law is still in force, free coinage would be a reality without additional legislation.

Which Has So Stirred Up the People of Spalding County.

THE FUNERAL OF POOR MRS. BARRETT

The Terrible Tragedy Still a Mystery, with No Clue Upon Which to Prosecute the Work.

GRIFFIN, Ga., January 5 .- [Special.]-Interest in the Barrett tragedy of Sunday night has continued today without abatement.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon the remains of Grandma Barrett, as she was familiarly known, were interred in the burying ground of the little village, and a large concourse of loving neighbors made up the funeral cortege. It was a sad duty, made more sad by reason of the brutality of her death, which those loving friends had to perform. Rev. J. H. Elder preached a feeling funeral sermon. His allusions to her Christian character and her many good deeds caused tears to dim many eyes un-used to weeping. Her aged husband still lingers, but the brittle thread that holds him en earth is well nigh severed, and may be snapped in two at any moment. The crime which ended the noble life of this aged lady and causes the constant watching by the bedside of her husband, is still hidden in an impenetrable veil.

The Clues All Wrong.

There is no foundation for any of the theories advanced offering a clue to the guilty parties. Sheriff Patrick having been quoted in connection with one of these theories, was seen by your reporter, and the following statement has been obtained from him by THE CONSTITU-

"It is the policy of every officer to suspec every party that could possibly have any con-nection with a crime brought to his notice." As further evidence of the fact that there is no foundation for connecting W. W. Nun-nally's name with the crime, Mrs. Fielding Hill, a neighbor of Dr. Barrett's, states that on Sunday night, between 7 and 8 o'clock, she heard screams in the direction of Dr. Barrett's house. This was not brought out at the coroner's inquest. That Nunnally was not at home from before sundown until 9:30 o'clock is the evidence of half a dozen responsible people. Then, too, those early on the scene, whom Nunnally had just left, state that the blood had coagulated when they arrived, showing conclusively that the crime had been com mitted some time before Nunnally returned to his home.

A Visit to the Scene. Your correspondent has just returned from the scene of the tragedy, and, after again thoroughly going over the entire case, and talking with a large number of neighbors, is convinced that there is no shadow of suspicion resting on Will Nunnally. The evidence shows that he could not have committed the crime. The suspicion that might have been felt yesterday was occasioned by the wild excitement of the people, but that has passed now, and the community feels that a great in-justice has been done the young man. It was never intended that any remarks that were made in discussing the case should have been so promiseuously handled. Upon inquiry your reporter learns that Will Nunnally was devoted to his grandparents; had for a number of years lived with them and waited on them. and no one feels the heavy blow more severely than he does. Will Nunnally is a quiet, sober and industrious young man, and is highly respected by his neighbors, who are his friends, and for a number of years has been a consistent member of the church.

It was hoped Dr. Barrett would recover sufficiently to give the names of his assailants, but there is scarcely any hope of his surviving through the night.

Should this occur interest will freshen in the case.
[The news of the tragedy came to The Con-The news of the tragedy came to The Construction at such a late hour that it was impossible to analyze it fully. The developments of yesterday showing that Mr. Nunnally could not have had part in the tragedy only sustains the firm confidence his friends had in him.]

Today's receipts are larger than the receipts Today's receipts are larger than the receipts for the corresponding day of last year. Receipts have been exceptionally large for the past few days, and no one will venture to predict when they will be otherwise. Some who were among the most hopeful a fortnight ago, are now willing to confess that everything points to the crop being fully as large as that of 1890-91, and it may prove even larger. With such a probability staring them in the face, it is no wonder that they teel discourface, it is no wonder that they feel discour-

Augusta, Ga., January 5.—[Special.]—Messrs. J. I. Thorp and J. R. Rowland, both young men, who claim to hail from Spring Hill, Montgomery county, were arrested this morning for carrying concealed weapons, and were also held as suspicious characters.

They went to the college early this morning, and asked permission to eat their breakfast, which they had with them. While in the room the janitor says they changed their clothes and went out hurriedly, but returned shortly afterwards. Thorp and Rowland claim that they arrived this morning on the Central train on their way to Philadelphia, where they intended buying a stock of drugs to open a store in Towns, Ga. They had tickets to Philadelphia, Thorp had $310, but Rowland had only a few dollars. Thorp says he is a graduate of the medical college of Augusta of the class of '87. Among the men's papers were found green goods circulars, and on the back of one of them was written: "We will take three hundred dollars' worth of goods. We will be in New York Monday morning."

GOV. HILL LEAVES FOR WASHINGTON,

Where He Will Be the Common Attack of Both Republicans and Mugwumps.

ALBANY, N. Y., January 5 .- [Special.]-The state legislature convened here today, and immediately proceeded to organize for busi-

The assembling of this representative body is the final act and the result of the importan election held in November last. The fight for political control in the state has for a number of years been hotly contested. When the unust apportionment and representation is taken into consideration the victory is all the more glorious. To say these conditions have not been brought about to a very great extent by the personality of Hon. D. B. Hill would be to misrepresent facts.

The Senate Organized.

A great deal of speculation was indulged in as to how the senate would organize with only sixteen elected members when seventeen votes were required. Doubt was dispelled, however, when Senator Edwards announced his determination to participate in the organization of that body. The republican senators, who had been caucussing all morning, finally came to the conclusion that nothing would be gained by absenting themselves if Edwards persisted in carrying out his determination, therefore as the hour drew near for asembling the senators gathered about in the vicinity of the chamber.

Lieutenant Governor Sheehan, as presiding officer of the senate, ascended to his chair, and saying, "According with the constitution I have the agreeable duty to call this body to order," the wheels of the legislature were set

The first business was to swear in the senators, and then to ratify the caucus nomine and make them officers of the senate, the vote for clerk and minor offices being 17 to 13, Edwards voting with the democrats and one republican being absent. Senator Cantor, from New York city, was elected president pro tem.

A resolution was then offered and adopted calling for the seating of the democratic men ber of the twenty-seventh district, Mr. Walker, who was the opponent of Mr. Sherwood, the constitutionally ineligible candidate. He, Walker, was sworn in and took his seat, thus giving the democrats seventeen votes. Contests were handed in for the seat of Derby, republican, sixteenth district; Donaldson, republican, eighteenth district; Van Corder, republican, thirtieth district, and referred to the committee on contested elections when appointed. A large number of bills were introduced. The most important was the enumeration bill, which provides for beginning taking the census before February,

This will insure the enactment of a long-de and apportionment of the senate and assembly districts, and a new apportionment of the congressional districts. When the change shall have been effected, it will prove one of the most important political events of the last half century. It is not so much its partisan aspect, but its relation to the home government of our great municipalities which gives it. ment of our great municipalities which gives it magnitude far beyond the common estimate, as it will give to the great cities the number of representatives to which their populations enti-tle them.

The Assembly Meets.

The assembly met at noon and swore in the caucus nominees. Dr. R. P. Bush was elected speaker, James W. Husted, republican, receiving the complimentary vote. A bill was introduced appropriating $250,000 for New York's exhibit at the world's fair and providing for six additional commissioners. A number of petitions were presented on contested seats and referred to committee when appointed pointed.

The governor transmitted his message to each house. It is a very lengthy and interesting document. By concurrent resolution both houses adjourned till January 12th, when the committees will be announce Governor Hill Leaves.

During the recess the committees will be made up with a view to securing from each member of the legislature the best work for the people that there is in him. Ex-Governor Hill, fully satisfied with the completion of his successful labors, left here this evening fo Washington, to assume his duties in the federal congress. The opinion prevails here that the session will be short but active, and many needful measures will be passed for the people's benefit.

Such Was the Order of Governor Northen for John Berry.

HE WILL WORK IT FOR LIFE, THOUGH.

Some Very Important Orders Made by the Governor Yesterday-A Dozen Pardon and Commutation Cases.

Berry will not hang. Such was the decision of Governor Northen bearing upon the case of John Berry, convicted of rape by the superior court of Henry Berry was convicted of rape, Miss Ann Dunn, a white girl, being his victim, and the circumstances are well remembered. The prisoner was sentenced to be hanged, but received a respite until the case could be investigated, with a view to commutation. Yesterday Governor Northen, after hearing the full evidence, commuted the sentence, and John Berry will not die by the rope, but will live his life at hard labor in the penitentiary. The order that went to record on the state books in the case is significant and worth read-books in the case is significant and worth reading. It is as follows:

ATLANTA, Ga., January 5, 1802.—To the Sheriff of Henry County: Whereas, at the October terin, 1800, of the superior count of Henry county, John Berry was convicted of the crime of rape and sentenced to be hung on the 18th day of December, 1801, and whereas, under an executive order issued on the 16th of December, 1801, the said John Berry was granted a respite until Friday, January 8, 1802, with a view to the investigation of the reasons submitted asking a commutation to life imprisonment.

sons submitted asking a commutation to life imprisonment.

Rape is the most terrible crime in all the catalogue of offenses against the laws of this state. It deserves and should receive swift and certain punishment under the authority of law. While the executive functions of the state rest with me, no matter what the circumstances, I will not interfere with the judgment of the courts where two things appear:

1. When the crime of rape has been committed 2. Where the identity of the offender is shown. Where these two elements exist there can be, in my opinion, no palliating circumstances.

where these two elements exist there can be, in my opinion, no halliating circumstances.

The case of John Berry must now be passed upon by me under my solemn obligation as executive of the state. At the outset of the investigation, on the trial of the case, the evidence was very closely criticised. The prosecutrix was, of course, the main witness to the facts. Her testimony and the attendant circumstances fully established the first condition. The offense was committed.

tablished the first condition. The offense was committed.

The effect of the evidence as a whole left the question of identify of the defendant as the perpetrator in some doubt. The jury, as they had a right to do, settled the question of identity adversely to the prisoner, and, had nothing further occurred, I would not consider the case beyond this point. A statement has been submitted to me, properly attested and signed by the prosecutivity, asking for a commutation of the sentence to life imprisonment, and asserting that she had doubts as to the identity of the prisoner as the perpetrator. Subsequently, another statement, properly attested and signed by her, was presented, recalling her former statement and affirming his identity in the strongest language. I am now in great doubt as to the possible effect of these contrary statements upon the jury if made before them in the trial of the case.

We are still under this apprehension."

In view of the foregoing facts, I deem it my duty to commute the sentence of the said John Berry. It is therefore ordered

The sherif of Henry county will therefore at once deliver the said John Berry to the guard from the penitentiary and he will be safely carried to said prison and kept at hard labor for and during his natural life.

W. J. NORTHEN, Governor. By the Governor:

W. H. HARRISON, Sec. Ex. Department.
Atlanta, Ga., January 5, 1892.

No Rope Here, Either. Another death sentence was commuted by the governor yesterday to a life sentence in the penitentiary. It was in the case of James Graham, convicted of murder, in the superior court of Bulloch county at the fall term in 1891. Graham was granted a respite by executive order December 14, 1891, until January 15, 1892, for the consideration of a petition for commutation.

It was shown that Graham was not well represented at the trial; that there was a witrepresented at the trial; that there was a witness in the courtroom who would have sworn that the man killed was advancing towards him with an open knife. Many good citizens signed the petition, and the jury wrote the governor he same request.

Governor Northen believed it to be a case where life sentence will meet the demands of law, and ordered in accordance with his belief.

Whitaker Pon't Get It.

Whitaker Don't Get It. The application for pardon in behalf of Asa Whitaker, convicted in Fulton county of voluntary manslaughter, and sentenced to en years inprisonment in the Georgia penitentiary, was refused.

W. H. Reeves, convicted of murder in Haralson county and sentenced to a life imprisonment was refused pardon.

Turner and Williams, fined $100 or chaingang for twelve months, were not pardoned.

William Hullman, the famous Whitfield county murderer, of 1886, with a sentence of life imprisonment, was refused the pardon sought in his behait.

A strenuous effort was made to secure commutation for William McCoy, who was to have been hanged December 18, 1891, and subsequently respited to January 8, 1892. The judge and solicitor general were wired for an opinion by the governor and replied that they were opposed to the petition, and Governor Northen refused to grant it.

How the Negroes of the Sixty-Ninth Celebrated the Christmas Holidays.

WAYNESBORO, Ga., January 3.—[Special.] Reports of the Christmas festivities among the negroes of the sixty-ninth district are still Reports of the Christmas festivities among the negroes of the sixty-ninth district are still coming in. There were many rights in which pistols and knives figured prominently. The old regulation razor was relegated to the rear while cuffs "fit and fout" after a more modern style. Walter Walker fired on Charley Cummings and succeeded in wounding him in the hat. Arthur Brown decided to turn light into Floyd Redfield's carcass through holes made by a thirty-eight pistol. He succeeded in giving only partial enlightenment through a hole in the short ribs. Till Way thought he'd do better than that, hence he pulled his gun and fired on Beeman Lawrence, who was cutting a cake. Beeman retaliated by cutting Till in the head. All in all, they seemed to have had a right merry Christmas.

Burned Out by Incendiartes.

WAYNESBORO, Ga., January 5.—[Special.]—Mr. Frank M. Cates is one of the largest cotton planters in Burke county, running a large number of plows, and also a store in the country, and is a member of the firm of Cates & Skinner. Recently the "no fence" or stock law-became a law operative in the district where Mr. Cates resides. Only a few days ago he received an anonymous letter saying that it was his influence and money that caused the fences to be voted out of the district, and if he knew what was best for him he had better take immediate action to have the fences brought back in the district or he would regret it. Only a week or ten days have elapsed since the letter was received by him, and on yesterday while he was away from home his ginhouse was burned by some unknown parties. ATLANTA, GA., January 6, 1892.

Mr. Påt Calhoun's Retirement.

The retirement of Mr. Patrick Calhoun from service in the management of the Terminal company, and especially of the Central railroad, is to be very much regretted by his friends in this state. Through Mr. Calhoun's foresight, ability and activity, the Central railroad, which was paying small dividends and with stock not worth more than 70 cents on the dollar, was reorganized on a basis that put new life into it and ran the stock up to $1.30, since which time it has never failed to pay less than a 7 per cent dividend, and part of the time 8 per cent.

The lease of the road to the Terminal company was effected through his influence; Some of the directors of the Terminal objected to the lease, and it has been unfortunate, both to the Terminal company and to the Central railroad, that the lease of the latter has created a division in the Terminal board. Mr. Calhoun and his friends are no doubt sincere in the idea that the people who objected to the lease of the Central railroad are willing to crush it, and buy up the stock at a much cheaper rate than that paid in the open market for it, and we have no doubt that they are sincere in what they think as to the intention of the parties who have gained ascendancy in the Terminal board. This view of the question is one that s just as bitterly opposed by the men who now have control of the Terminal company. It is, therefore, an open question, to be decided in the future which is right.

The division which has existed in the Terminal board on account of the lease of the Central, is to be deplored, but there is consolation in the assurance that we may expect in the future that the parties who now take charge of the property will have no opposition in carrying out their original intention when the road was leased, which was to make this road the main avenue to Georgia's great seaport-Savannah.

The Central railroad property has never been properly estimated by people outside the state and by many inside the state. It is true it has a floating debt of about four million dollars, which was incurred in building the extension from Columbus to Birmingham and the purchase of other branches. But this floating debt has been kept on the company simply because they have been unable to negotiate good and valid bonds which they expected to place when they contracted this debt. The tightness of the money market and the continual agitation before the legislature of questions especially affecting this property have made it impossible for the road to negotiate the sale of these bonds except at a very great expense. They now have bonds amounting to over eleven million dollars, which, if sold at a reasonable price, would put the Central railroad in as good condition as any road in the country.

We believe that it was the purpose of Mr. Calhoun to develop this road when he insisted upon the lease to the Terminal system. By making it a part of the system he did no more than Mr. Wadley offered to do, when the road had a very small debt, with the Louisville and Nashville system, by a lease of pinety-nine years for a dividend of 6 per cent to its stockholders, and it was not Mr. Wadley's fault that this contract was not

The lease of the road, if carried out ac cording to contract, is the best move that could have been made by the owners of the Central railroad stock. We are satisfied that Mr. Calhoun will not do anything that will make it possible for his successors to accomplish what he suspects, and we have no doubt that if his suspicions are true, and we do not agree with him, his successors will have a much more difficult job to execute then he thinks they have.

1. Calhoun, like all energetic men, has his enemies, not only here but in New York. But the people of Georgia owe him a great deal for his efforts to build up the commerce of the south and open our south Atlantic seaports to the great northwest, and we regret very much that he has retired from the Democratic Demonstrations. The Boston Post says that "great Cleve land demonstrations should be held in all sections to give the eager people an opportunity to rally about his standard. Cleveland clubs should be organized, Cleveland committees appointed and liberally backed up to offset the anti-Cleveland politicians." We dare say that if this had been submitted to Mr. Cleve and for his approval he would have erased his own name and substituted that of the democratic party. What The Post means is that great democratic demonstrations should be held in all sections to give the eager people an opportunity to rally about the democratic standard, democratic clubs should be organized, democratic committees appointed and liberally backed up to offset the anti-democratic politicians.

The Post and other newspapers which are trying to elevate Mr. Cleveland above his Tom Reed has rolled up his sleeves and gone to york with a vim. He is a capable newspaper man party and at the same time belittle other prominent democrats who have state some service, are doing him an injustate some service, are doing him an injustice. We are convinced that he has no sympathy with such methods.

The democratic party is the thing and 1892 is the year to win. Is the Sherman Law a Democratic Measure? The abuse of Governor Hill by the featherheads and the controversy in which they have involved themselves are of little importance except as showing the proverty of their re sources. It is now claimed, as a setoff to the suggestions of Governor Hill-which are simply the suggestions of an individual-that Mr. Cleveland is in favor of letting the Sherman silver law alone, and we are treated to the beautiful spectacle of a democratic featherhead putting up a labored argument to show that the Sherman law is a very fair substitute for free coinage, worthy, in fact, of democratic support and confidence.

Although this may be true from the featherhead point of view, it is not true from the democratic point of view. Apart from this particular endorsement of the Sherman law the only protest against Governor Hill's attack on the Sherman law comes from Senator Stewart, who has written a letter about it. It happens, however, that Mr. Stewart is a republican silver man, who claims that the accumulation of bullion under the Sherman law (for which he voted), is rapidly leading the country to free coinage. We do not know how much weight Mr. Stewart's opinion ought to be given. But he has the right to defend the Sherman law. He voted for it with the other republicans of the house and senate, and it is always in order for a republican to defend his party's measures.

The democrats, however, have been opposed to the Sherman law from the first. They voted against it in congress, and, in Ohio, Iowa, New York, Massachusetts and other states, the democratic conventions declared against it. The position of the featherheads is perfectly transparent. They are so desperate in their anxiety to belittle Governor Hill that they would take any position whatever which, to their minds, would aid them in carrying out their policy of misrepresentation. Hence their endorsement of the Sherman law, which is conceded to be the worst financial measure ever concocted. That the featherheads endorse this moss are in utter ignorance of its provision is beyond all question, for we are told by them that it provides for the coinage of $54,000,000 of silver a year. As a matter of fact the coinage of silver is stopped altogether, and, under the terms of the law, the government is issuing silver certificates against the depreciated bullion. Senator Stewart says this accumulation of bullion will lead to free coinage: on the other hand, free coinage men who know at least as much about the matter as Mr. Stewart, say that the accumulation cannot go on forever, and that when the end comes there will be a silver panic which will destroy all hope of free colnage for many vears to come.

There is another fact which the feather heads make plain. They are not only bent on belittling any and every democrat who may run counter to their cut-and-dried programme, but they are opposed to the democratic demand for free coinage, and they lose no opportunity to make this opposition manifest in a covert way. They have but one issue; they have but one candidate. The demands of the people and of the party are nothing to them. Old Potty Heaves a Sigh.

In the midst of a collection of pot metal The Macon Telegraph has a column and a quarter of editorial, in which we observe number of references to THE CONSTITUTION. This will be a great relief to its readers, if it has any, for Old Potty, as the printers call it, has now got hold of a live subject. We believe Old Potty can redeem itself by referring to THE CONSTITUTION every day. People outside who don't know any better will think it is carrying on a discussion with ewspaper, and in thi way Old Potty can get quite a reputation.

We don't know what Old Potty is sighing about, but as the sigh had to be set up and paid for it must be of tremendous imporance. We certainly wish Old Potty well.

ETCHED AND SKETCHED.

A prominent Alabamian, who was telling last night at the Kimball about the campaign in his state, remarked that the kissing and dancing sto-ries told of Governor Jones in his canvass were ridiculous and practically without foundation.

"The fact is," said this gentleman, "the stories started in this way: At Blue Creek, in Jefferson county, there are many Scotch miners and they with their wives and daughters frequently have a dance on public occasions. Governor Jones was selected to lead in the grand march and did so with a lady, the wife of a prominent Scotchman. The same thin occurred at Adger's, also in Jefferson county. Th governor, having no religious scruples against dancing, could not decline. It would not have been gentlemanly under the circum-stances, especially when the dance was a part of the festivities in his honor. As to the issing, he kissed only two, and any gentleman i his place would have done the same. He had fin-ished speaking, and was about to leave the platform, when a sweet, pretty young Scotch-woman playfully remarked that he was going away without a kiss. The governor pleasantly re-plied that it was not his fault, whereupon she said that it was not her fault either. Governor Jones then said that it was a very tempt ing challenge, and the lady declared that she never ran away. Her husband was stand ing by, and when the governor walked up and klassed his wife he seemed t enjoy it as much as anybody. A Scotchman with his wife on his arm told the governor that he must kiss her, and of course he was equal to the occasion. These ladies merely followed the cus tom of their own country, and it was their way of honoring the governor. Like a thorough gentleman Governor Jones met these adopted citizens of his state half way. His competitor Captain Kolb, kissed one of the same ladies twice saying that he was one ahead of Jones, and he also led in the grand march. So, you see, there is no sense in the effort of certain news papers to show up Governor Jones as a dema gogue in this kis gogue in this kissing and dancing business. There was no more of it than I have related, and Captain Kolb was mixed up in it also." A great many eyes will be turned toward the capital of Ohio today, and the result of that republican caucus tonight will be watched for with very great interest. Ohio has a way of keeping to the front in matters political, and when one sensation exhausts itself another comes along to take its place. Both Sherman and Foraker are national figures-the former by reason of his long-continued public service, the latter on account, principally, I suppose, of his periodic flashes of pyrotechnic brilliancy, his fearless boldness of speech, and his ever-increasing adulation of James G.

The situation is highly interesting. The dispatches from Columbus tell of the closeness of the contest-how every vote is most valuable. Unless the press dispatches are doctored to please the Sherman men, it looks very much as if the old senator will win once Sherman's grip on Ohio is a wonderfully strong one. From the time back in the past when the memory of the present generation "runneth not to the contrary," he has been the head and front of the republicaparty, or, more properly speaking, of the republican office holders. I suppose in early days he took an active part in the offsire of his party in Ohio, but for a good many years now all the work has been done by other people. Sherman has become a na tional figure, it is true, and national affairs have absorbed his attention; the result is he has cut no figure in the affairs of the state and a vounger generation has had control of the party. Foraker is the ideal of those younger workers. No man in public life today has a stronger hold on his immediate es: no man is more generally misun derstood by those who do not know him. His enemies are bitter enemies, and every-thing that man could do to belittle man has been done toward Foraker. He is a man of great ability, a man of wonderfu personal magnetism. He is one of those fellow with real warm blood in his veins, whose per wonderful sonality charms everybody thrown with him. It is easy to believe the dispatches, which say that greater enthusiasm is shown by Foraker's friends than by Sherman's. I believe the majority of the members of his party in their hearts prefer Foraker to Sherman, and that were it not for outside influences For-aker would win. It's a fight of the republican party of the nation against the bulk of the re oublican party of Ohio. The whole is greater han any ofits parts.

From The Brunswick, Ga., Times. The commercial importance of the port of Brunswick, first to the district, and then to the state and trading world, naturally takes the place of pre-eminence in considering the question as to who the people ought to select to advance com-mercial growth by successfully concentrating government action upon and universal interest n it. It would be entirely congruous to this wish of the people, to send a representative to congress who, while careful to promote every subordinate interest in the district, will successfully push the interest nct overbearing but beneficial to all the rest, to-wit: The improvements to Brunswick's harbor and waterways. It supplies a farmer and the force silver and subtreasury. farmer and the northern mechanic. It supplies a rational cure for the free silver and subtreasury fevers. We are convinced that the wisest thing the house can do is to repeal the tax and leave the question to the states. The democrats of the east_cannot agree with those of the south and west as to free silver coinage. To adopt it as an issue is to court division and defeat. The members from all sections should "get together" upon a platform broad enough and safe enough for the whole country; and such a platform is that which The State, first of all South Carolina newspapers, presented last of all South Carolina newspapers, presented last spring and again urges for adoption. The Number of Voters.

From The New York Sun, Dem.

The popular vote was about 10,000,000 in 1884, about 11,40,000 in 1885, and it will probably reach 18,000,000 votes in 1892. The total is forty times 18,000,000 votes in 1882. The first presidential greater than that cast at the first presidential about on and larger than the electorate of any country in ancient or modern times. For the first time it exceeds the total vote cast in the German empire or in the French republic. Great Britain's total was passed many years ago. That of any other European and American country where popular suffrage is exercised shrinks into insignificance in comparison with our 13,000,000 votes. No more striking illustration of the enormous extent of the American franchise in 1892 can be found than the fact that at the ensus of 1790, now little more the fact that at the census of 1790, now little morthan a century old, the total number of inhabitants of the republic, men, women and children and Senor Montt, Chilean minister, had a long conference at the former's residence today. It is rumored that Montt has received a copy of the report on the Baltimore incident, and that he furnished a copy to Mr. Blaine today, but this report cannot be verified.

Another report is that he has received in-structions from Santiago to make a full apology, but this also lacks confirmation. All that is known about his conference with Mr Blaine this morning is that it was of sufficient length to keep Mr. Blaine away from the cabinet meeting.

The Atlanta Glass Company's works were reduced to ashes last night.

The factory was located near the terminus of Pryor street, on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad, and outside the city limits. When the fire was discovered the alarm was telephoned in from the glass company's office, which was out of the range of Chief Joyner quickly had three companie en route to the scene. When they arrived they found over an acre of buildings in flames. It was 1,600 yards in one direction and 1,200 in the other to the nearest water plugs. The massive brick panels, ovens, pots and arches composing the principal part of the structure so obscured the flames from the reach of the water that it was almost impossible to do any. thing more than keep the fire suppressed so it could not reach other property.

But the thoroughly trained firemen, under the skillful supervision of Chief Joyner, poured bold streams of water into every open-ing. The department was at a great disadvantage all the way through, but succeeded in keeping the fire reduced to such a stage that the pots and machinery were only slightly injured, and the adjoining property was kept out of danger.

About the Plant. The plant of the Atlanta glass works covered about three acres of ground and furnished employment to about two hundred and seventy. five hands.

It was originally constructed in the spring of 1887, and was destroyed by fire in June of the same year. From the first day of its operation it proved a paying investment, and immediately after its destruction was rebuilt on a larger scale. The officers of the company are: Dr. J. W Rankin, president; Asa G. Candler, vice president, and J. W. Rankin, Jr., secretary, reasurer and manager. The products of the factory were druggist's glassware, littered prescription ware panels, and flasks. The com-pany did an extensive business all over the

The Origin of the Fire. There were three night watchmen, one forenan and about fifteen workmen on duty when the fire was discovered. According to the statements of these, the conflagration was caused by the explosion of pot No. 2, one of the largest in the building.

Mr. Rankin, manager of the company, seemed to regard this theory with considerable doubt. He said unless it' was under some extraordinary circumstances it would be impossible for such an explosion to set the building on fire. This was all that could be learned as to the origin of the disastrous fire.

No One Injured. For about an hour sensational rumors were affoat to the effect that four men had been burned up, but they were all finally found. The scare was due to the fact that the men had been caged by the surrounding flames for several minutes and could not be found. Mr. Pfeifer, a very old man, who was in charge of one of the furnaces, was almost suffocated, and would have certainly lost his life had he not been discovered by two small boys and rescued. One of the boys was almost killed himself, but with a handkerchi curely bound around his mouth, forced his way to the dying man and saved him. Sensational Prediction About the Richmond and Danville System.

HEADOUARTERS TO BE REMOVED.

Says a Gentleman Who Stands In With the Powers in the Great Corporation.

NEW YORK, January 5 .- [Special.]-It has been developed that Hon. Pope Barrow, of Athens, Ga., met General Samuel Thomas Washington on last Saturday, and he ras instructed by General Thomas to vote he stock held by the Terminal company the election on Monday at Savannah for directors of the Central railroad for such men to fill the vacancies of the board as he might select from the most prominent itizens of Georgia who are interested in the stock of the Central railroad.

The Proxies Sent to Barrow. The proxies were sent from New York by General Sorrell and delivered to Mr. Barrow Monday morning at Savannah, and he selected the new members of the board n the election on Monday. It is also ated that Mr. Barrow was given instruction at the same time by General Thomas reorganize the attorneys of the road in Georgia, and by all means to reduce the expenses. There are great complaints here out the expense of, litigation of the roads nected with the Terminal system in Georgia. Very heavy verdicts have been ndered and the law fees are enormous and there are very great complaints about the whole matter in the Terminal board. Certain Things to Happen.

A reliable railroad man, who is well ac inted with the railroad situation in Georgia, said today that we might look nt in Georgia for certain things to hap en: First, the headquarters of the Cenal would be moved back to Savannah the headquarters of the Terminal system would go back to Richmond, not to Washington. George S. Scott, of the First Na-tional bank in New York, would again be elected president of the Richmond and Danville railroad; Worthington, of Washington, would be the general counsel for the Terminal system.

The System to Be Broken Up. The present Terminal system would be broken up as follows: The Central and Georgia Pacific would be put in one sysem, with Superintendent McBee in charge; he Richmond and Danville from Atlanta to Washington would be in charge of Mr. Thompson, who is now assistant general manager of the system; and the roads in South Carolina and western North Caroms would be in another system, the manager of this system to be selected.

A Receivership for the Central. This gentleman thinks that after the roads are organized in this way that the East Cennessee road will be played to injure he business of the Central, and in that way the road will fail to pay, and will eventually go into the hands of a receiver. This is his idea of what will result. All we can do is to wait and see if his predictions are true. He has given full scope in his predictions, so that as it occurs we can tell if it is true. Of course, if he means any of the important prophecies above made we may know that he is wrong as to the results that will follow.

The News in Atlanta. SOME RUMORS TO THE SAME EFFECT ARE CUR.

"The Central's headquarters will be moved back to Savannah, the Richmond and Dan-ville's to Washington and the Georgia Padeclared a gentleman last night, who has certainly had an opportunity to see the inside workings of the controlling powers in the Rich-

"You will see the unity of the Richmond and Danville system as it stands now, broken up. Then the East Tennessee will be used as a club to smash each road, one at a time. The Central will be the first victim. Oh, I don't pretend to know which will be the second, but the Georgia Pacific, like a sick man, can be shoved over at any moment. It's short work a us opposition would make of that line." It was the spokesman himself who gave this iction exceptional significance. Continuing, he said: "Does any one suppose that the fight which the East Tennessee began a few weeks ago on the Georgia Pacific and the Central means nothing? First, the East Tennesse was let into the union depot here.

Next it and the Queen and Crescent invaded the Georgia Pacific's territory and the East Tennessee boasts of the success which is greeting it there. Then an active fight was begun at Savannah. All this, though, is merely the beginning.

beginning.
"That new board of directors elected at Savannab yesterday is a strong one and before the year is out Savannah will be congratulating the board upon bringing back to that city the general officers of the company and all the men who were moved away. That will delight Savannah, but it will be only a preliminary move on the chess board of the Terminal's management. If it be possible for the Central to prevent the breaking of the lease to the Georgia Pacific, the minority stockholders may checkmate the play of the Terminal. To me the future is full of receiverships and reorganizations with the present capitalizations and bonded and floating debt wiped out."

"But Brice and Thomas do not hunt ducks with a brass band."

"You mean that they do not tell what they

with a brass band."
"You mean that they do not tell what they are going to do? That is true, but when you see a man with a bandaged jaw going to a dentist you conclude that he has the toothache. When you see those gentlemen taking charge of a railroad you can guess what is going to happen to it without straining your guesser."

The gentleman who made this prediction is The gentleman who made this prediction is in a position to know almost as much about the Terminal as any one who is on the inside. There are people always who profess to know a great deal about the Terminal, and it is really surprising how much is often foretold. Coming events do cast their shadows ahead of them sometimes, though in railroad matters they are about as frequently cast behind.

This prediction, in reference to the breaking up of the Richmond and Danville's consolidated system, derives its force from the prophet. Not many weeks ago Captain W. H. Green stated to a Constitution representative that the headquarters would not be moved away from Atlanta so long as he was general man-

Not many weeks ago Captain W. H. Green stated to a Constitution representative that the headquarters would not be moved away from Atlanta so long as he was general manager. New developments have occurred since then, however, and yesterday the report was revived again in the Kiser building that he is to be made a vice president. He is in the north now, and his assistant, Mr. Thompson has also been, summoned to the north. Mr. Thompson has been mentioned as the coming general manager, and he would make an able one.

Mr. Cecil Gabbett was to be superintendent of the South Carolina division of the Richmond and Danville lines. The Columbus Enquirer-Sun quotes him as having said on Monday: "As far as my taking the superintendency of the South Carolina division of the Richmond and Danville is concerned, I can give you no information, for the reason that the execution of all plans has been stopped. It was proposed to move Mr. Dodson to the Atlanta and Charlotte Air-Line and put me in the South Carolina division but orders have been issued from headquarters—exactly what they are I cannot tell you—holding everything in aboyance for the present."

When the plans for taking Mr. Gabbett

When the plans for taking Mr. Gabbett back were made the Calhouns were in the Terminal, and their policy was to preserve the consolidation as it exists. And they were in when Captain Green stated that the headuarters would remain in Atlanta so long as when Captain Green stated that the headquarters would remain in Atlanta so long as he was general manager.

By the way, Mr. Gabbett passed through Atlanta last night, bound for New York, where he was called by an urgent telegram. He is likely to figure somewhere in the Danville's lines before long.
The Kiser building is leased by the Richmond and Danville for two years, at a rental of $12,500 a year. If the headquarters were removed from Atlanta the railroad could sublet the building, no doubt. The Central's offices in Savannah are practically deserted now, and rent would be saved by going back. Consolidation with headquarters in Atlanta was the cherished plan of Messrs. John T. Imman, Pat Calhoun and John C. Calhoun. Now that the Calhouns no longer have a voice in the councils of the Terminal, their policy in many respects is apt to be thrown aside and a new one adopted.
Not until the Olcott committee reports, however, is any prediction more than speculation.

Captain Jackson in Charge.

Captain Henry Jackson has taken temporary charge of the Richmond and Danville's law department here.

When Calhoun, King & Spalding were made general southern counsel of the system, Captain Jackson, who had been general counsel of the Georgia Pacific, remained as assistant counsel of that company and became assistant counsel of the Richmond and Danville.

Upon the resignation of Calhoun, King & Spalding Captain Jackson was wired from New York to act as counsel pending a reorganization of the system's law department.

King & Spalding volunteered to assist Captain Jackson until the proper transfer of the business can be arranged. He stated yesterday that he has not the force at present to dispatch the enormous legal business connected with the Richmond and Danville.

Hon. Pope Barrow, of Athens, will again be prominently associated in the Richmond and Danville's counsel, it is said.

Judge Hammond, who represented the petitioners in the application at Savannah on Monday for an injunction to restrain the Richmond Terminal from voting its 40,000 shares of Central railroad stock, says that he is not interested in any movement on the part of the minority to break the lease. If there is such a movement he has nothing to do with it, and no interest in it, he states.

has invented a new lock drawer that gives promise of being widely adopted.

He has drawn up the plans for it and will place eleven in the postofice as soon as they can be made. A petition to the department at Washington will ask that they be put in general use here. The drawer is so arranged that the officials can throw mail into them with the greatest of ease and accuracy. A renter can take out his mail by merely unlocking a door instead of drawing out the big, heavy box as before. The letters will then all slide down into any receptacle that is ready for them. On both sides a support will ify open to prevent the mail from falling out when the little door is opened.

It will certainly prove a big convenience for every one having occasion to use it.

Assessors Appointed.

The commissioners of DeKalb county have elected the following assessors: Colonel Charles W. Smith, Major W. J. Houston, Mr. J. W. S. Tilley and Mr. O. S. Owen. An election for two commissioners of the county will be held today. The candidates are: James W. Goldsmith, of Stone Mountain, and Aaron B. Coffey, of Lithonia. They have no opposition, and their election is assured.

ITS DEPOT SITE ALREADY LOCATED.

Trains Will Not Get Into the Union Passenger Station at Present-Some Knotty Law Points.

The Georgia, Carolina and Northern's speedy entrance into Atlanta is dependent solely upon Judge Marshall Clarke's decision the Georgia Carolina and Northern has a terminal site at or near Hill and East Hunter streets, a short distance south of the Georgia

"We can have trains running into Atlanta in thirty days if we are allowed to come in over the Georgia road's right of way," said a This company bought a strip from the Geor-gia road from Johnson's to Hulsey's, four miles, for $37,000. Now the Georgia, Carolina and Northern wants to condemn a part of the Georgia road's unoccupied right of way from Hulsey's to its

"All we ask is ground enough for a double "aid the gentleman. "Mr. Robinson in track," said the gentleman. "Mr. Robinson does not propose to have his shifting yard in the city limits. He has secured property for a yard beyond the limits, and the trains will be made up out there."

Two very pretty and novel points are involved in this case. The Georgia company resists the Georgia, Carolina and Northern's effort to condemn right of way on the Georgia road's right of way and argues that the Georgia, Carolina and Northern is constitu-tionally chartered. The argument is that all railroad charters which were specially granted by the legislature since the constitution of 1877 are illegal. A provision of the constitution is that the general assembly shall pass no special legislation where there is a general law covering the same ground. At least half a dozen railroads have obtained special charters and been construced under them since the constistution was adopted. If a special charter is unconstitutional none of these roads would have a legal existence. They represent many millions of dollars, and while the point against their charters is a pretty one for lawvers to wrestle with, it is not likely that the courts will hold that such roads are illegal orporations.

The Georgia, Carolina and Northern got a charter under the general law from the secretary of state, but fearing that it was not good or strong enough, another was secured from the legislature. This special act specifically gives the Georgia, Carolina and Northern the power to condemn a right of way on the Georgia road's right of way.

In its answer, the Georgia, Carolina and Northern questions the soundness of the constitutional provision on this point.

Another knotty point is the claim set up by the Georgia, Carolina and Northern, that the right of eminent domain does not vest in the corporation acquiring the right of way there under, sale or exclusive title and use to the same. The principle is that private property taken for public use is converted from a lower to a higher purpose. Further than this, it is maintained by the Georgia, Carolina and Northern that it would have the right to condemn even tracks used for switching, and take them for use as a main line, for that would be converting said tracks to a higher use. It is but a step further to maintain that a railroad would have to yield joint use of its main track to another line if there was no other way for the new line to reach its terminal. new line to reach its terminal.

The Georgia, Curolina and Northern is furnishing its bridge over Peachtree creek and if it gets the consent of the courts to lay tracks on the Georgia road's right of way, trains will soon thereafter be running into the city.

All Experts Use Royal Baking Powder

Perfect and uniform success in making finest food is more certain with Royal Baking Powder than with any other. Use it in every receipt calling for a baking powder, or cream of tartar and soda, and the best results in pure, wholesome, appetizing food are assured. Experts use it because it adds to their success. Physicians and Health Officers recommend it because it adds to the wholesomeness of the food.

MARION HARLAND: "I regard the Royal Baking Powder as the best in the market. Since its introduction into my kitchen I have used no other." MISS MARIA PARLOA: "It seems to me that the Royal Baking Powder is as good as any can be. I have used it a great deal and always with satisfaction." MRS. BAKER, Principal of Washington, D. C., School of Cookery: "I say to you, without hesitation, use the 'Royal.' I have tried all, but the Royal is the most satisfactory.

M. GORJU, late Chef, Delmonico's, New-York: "In my use of Royal Baking Powder, I have found it superior to all others." A. FORTIN, Chef, White House, for Presidents Arthur and Cleveland: "I have tested many baking powders, but for finest food can use none but 'Royal."

THE NEW YORK MARKET. The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, January 5 .- The stock market today showed a rather reactionary temper and the volume of business was somewhat smaller, but while there was onsiderable pressure to sell from all quarters, nev ned on such a scale that prices in all buying continued on such a scale that prices in an the list were stubbornly held and some slocks even scored handsome advances, though only in Industrials were these of special importance at the close. The low-priced shares again attracted a great deal of attention, and among these Louisville, New Albany and Chicago, Wheeling and Lake Erie, Reading and Buffels Rochester and Pittsburg treather with Pitts Chicago, Wheeling and Lake Eric, Reading and Buffaio, Rochester and Pittsburg, together with Pittsburg and Western, were the most conspicuous. Industrials, however, were the features for strength, and all the leaders scored handsome gains. Among the unusually active list New England was early the center of interest, the renewal of the old story of a deal with New Haven carrying its price in the forenoon to 49%, but there was free selling at that figure, and it finally retired below its opening prices and even below its last night's figure. Reading securities were strong on the report that the interest on incomes will be paid, and it fairly took the place of New England be paid, and it fairly took the place of New England as a leader of the market, both as to activity and strength. Other companies were not helped by the advance in Reading, however, though among lowpriced shares Tennessee Coal was very prominent as well as Susquehanna and Western preferred, though well as Susquehanna and Western preferred, though each of these stocks reacted in final dealings. The opening was generally firm at insignificant advances in most shares from last night's figures, but the selling orders, apparently from London, induced considerable short selling, and after the first spurt on the early demand the entire list-reacted, though the loss of I point in Eric preferred was the only important concession at the time. The market held stubbornly, however, and before your professions. at the time. The market held stubbornly, however, and before noon the losses were regained, but only to be lost again in the afternoon, Industrials in the meantime taking the lead in upward movements and Chicago Gas was pushed forward from 74½ to 78½ and Distillers from 61½ to 64, each retaining most all its gain at the close of business. New Lead stocks, on the other hand, were still weak, and both lost over 1 per cent. There was some selling of Northern Pacific stock on the report that the carnings would show a large decrease. The market finally closed active and fairly steady after a slight rally in final trading, but fairly steady after a slight rally in final trading, but most stocks are small fractions lower than last evening, while no material loss occurred in anything Chicago Gas, however, is up 3%; Distillers 134; Northern Pacific preferred 114 and Cordage 1 per cent. J. S. Bache & Co.'s Stock Letter.

By Private Wire to A. P. Youngblood.

NEW YORK, January 5.—The market opened with a fair degree of strength, but the selling by Europe had quite an effect on the sentiment in the room. It is estimated that the London selling amounted to fully 25,000 shares. This, coupled with the heavy selling of yesterday, makes a total of over 60,000 shares for the two days. The reason of this is not known, but some people are beginning to think that some of the bulis here have disposed of stock via the London market. The newspapers printed very bullish articles this morning on New England in which it was reported that Mr. Pierrepont Morgan was trading with the New England directors in the interest of the New Haven road, and the stock opened up nearly 2 per cent higher. This story is always circulated when a bull market is on. Richmond Terminal looks as if it were going higher. The committee that has been formed to help the company out will no doubt meet with success as they will find it easy to obtain money now, as the sentiment is very hopeful. The high standing in financial circles of the members of the committee insures the ultimate success of their labors. Chicago Gas was a strong spot, advancing nearly 4 per cent, and on the advance very little stock came out; and, although some of the Chicago short interest has been fouvered, there still seems to be outtre little. By Private Wire to A. P. Youngblood. and, although some of the Chicago short interest has been covered, there still seems to be quite a little remaining. The general market looked a little tired to-day and Northern Pacific preferred, on account of its poor statement for the month, suffered the greatest decline. If London does not come in as a buyer tomorrow we expect to see a little further reaction.

Closed steady; sales 65,700 bales. Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular. NEW YORK, January 5.—[Special.]—For the first time the present generation has seen basis middling contracts quoted in Liverpool below 4d a pound. The near positions this morning sold there at 3@4-64d, or about 1-16d below yesterday's closing prices. Before the end of the day, however, a slight improvement followed, and the close was very steady at 4d bid for January. At about noon here, however, a ru the receipts at New Orleans would again be heavy tomorrow caused a fresh selling movement. Receipts at the ports today are fully up to and rather in excess of anticipations, but the interior movement at the known towns is very light, and offerings of cotton from the south are very much reduced. In fact, the weakness of the market since Christmas seems to have been rather among the speculative element than with the holders of actual cotton. Toward the close a recovery of fully 10 points was established, and the fin-

NEW YORK, January 5-Liverpool was reported a NEW YORK, January 5—Liverpool was reported at the start as very gloomy at a decline of 4-5id. Subsequently a better feeling prevailed and a slight recovery took place. Here the opening was at about last night's prices. Shortly thereafter prices were better and continued steady with but small fluctuations and limited business until about noon, when it was reported that New Orleans would again tomorrow give large receipts. The whole situation is such an exceedingly nervous one that, without any positive knowledge on this score, offerings almost immediately set in, and in almost as many minutes the market had broken 7@8 points. many minutes the market had broken 7@8 points Thereafter it fluctuated and was sensitive until the close when some covering by shorts helped to lift prices which are about 10 points above the bottom of the day which are about 10 points above the bottom of the day. It has been an incessant selling from all sides. There is too little short interest open, if any, to offer any support when the pressure becomes as general as it has been these last four adys. One by one the people are coming to the conclusion that their information from the south has not been correct, and of course, under this assumption, have lost much faith in the article. In addition, the exhaustion of margin has forced a context. Unlikely the property of the second of t constant liquidation in every speculative market. Whatever may be said to the contrary prices are reasonable, but it does not follow that we shall see a good advance as long as the present demoralization prevails.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions, CHICAGO, January 5 .- The holiday dullness, which CHICAGO, January 5.—The holiday duliness, which of late has marked the course of business in about everything dealt in on the board of trade, was continued today. There was not much news to create decided opinions, either for or against higher prices. Values have been going downward for some time, and, as usual on a declining market, the outside public has lost interest and has drawn out of the dealings. In wheat, weakness accompanied dealings, and lover wheat, weakness accompanied dealings and lower figures were recorded. Holders seemed discouraged figures were recorded. Holders seemed discouraged and liquidation was general. Some of the large operators who bought wheat yesterday on the theory that a reaction might be calculated on after such a decline seemed to realize their mistake and made haste to get rid of their purchases. May opened unchanged at 94½ and slowly sagged off to 95½. Encouragement came later from domestic sources, chief of which was the prospect held out by the eastern railroads that in a day or two they expected to be able to handle everything offered to them. As many interior millers had orders here waiting a resumption of railroad traffic. orders here waiting a resumption of railroad traffic, the result was lively in the cash wheat business, and many fresh orders were received to take advantage of the improved shipping prospects. The price advanced sharply toward the close and closed at about the Corn was stronger and receipts were liberal, but Corn was stronger and receipts were ilberai, our grading was very poor. The break yesterday started a good deal of covering by the shorts, and, as the longs had poetry well liquidated yesterday, there was not much for sale, and prices hardened, advancing slowly all day and closing at the top, making a gain over yesterday of $\frac{1}{360}\frac{1}{360}\frac{1}{360}.

Outs were also decidedly stronger, recording an advance of $\frac{1}{460}\frac{1}{360}\frac{1}{360}.

Oats were also decidenty stronger, recogning an ac-vance of "\(\frac{\psi}{\psi}\) (\(\frac{\psi}{\psi}\) (\(\frac{\psi}{\psi}\)). Hog products opened weak and lower on account of the heavy receipts of live hogs at the leading packing centers and lower prices for live hogs here. "Our trade," Mr. Chase continued, "in the last six months, in comparison to corresponding periods of the two years previous, has fallen off fully 40 per cent."

"Will the business be continued?" Mr. Chase was asked.
"I cannot say yet. It is my intention to try to organize some new combination of capital to carry it on. But we have no detailed plans as yet."

A fight may be made by them for a receiver, and they may try to set aside the mortgages.

LEGAL SALES DAY,

And a Great Deal of Property Was Put Up

It was legal sales day yesterday.

A large amount of property was sold in front of the courthouse—part by Deputy Sheriff Will Green and part by Mr. Park Woodward, assisted by Mr. Charles Rice.

The latter was the tax collector's sale. The property had been in the hands of the city for the customary twelve months, and yesterday became open to any buyer, provided he paid the necessary costs.

Mr. Will Green also had a busy time in front of the courthouse.

He first sold 158 shares of Excelsor Steam laundry stock to J. M. Bentley for $2.25 a share. Its par value was $25.

A mule, a buggy and some harness owned by J. M. Bentley were bought in for him by T. L. Bishop for $146.

A lot on the corner of Wheat and Hilliard streets belonging to Charles Harnes.

A lot on the corner of Wheat and Hilliard streets belonging to Charles Harper was put up. The purchaser was Newton Cater. Less than a half hour afterwards another claimant against the property appeared and wished the amount called for by a fi fa which he held, $55. The lot brought $685.

At an administrator's sale the Larkin Baker farm on the Greensferry road was sold to James White for $1,308. It was exactly 100 acres in size.

Farrar estate was bought by Patsy Dawson for $305.

The last sale was that of a lot on Chatta-hoochee street to J. B. Redwine for $76, formerly the property of Sam Johnson.

The Work of the Three Courts Trying Civil Cases.

Three courts were in session in the county courthouse yesterday disposing of civil cases. But very little work was accomplished.

Judge Marshall Clarke rendered a decision in a small case appealed from the justice court, and his court adjourned.

Judge Westmoreland's court was engaged in disposing of a damage case. It was the case of Polife Fuller vs. the Atlanta and Florida railroad for $10,000 damages for services. The child of Polife Fuller was run over by an Atlanta and Florida train and its legs cut off. The hearing of the case occupied the entire day's session, and will be concluded today.

In Judge Van Epp's court the case of Conkle vs. John Ryan, for damages, was dismissed.

John Ryan, for damages, was dismissed.

Inotice in the report of the "ministers' meeting" of Monday, this statement:
"There was some discussion over this, viz., 'A Banquet or Spread,' the question of wine entering into the discussion."
Now, that language is misleading. There was no discussion at all as to whether there should be any wine, but in the friendly interchange of opinion as to having a banquet or spead at all. It was mentioned that an opportunity could be given to demonstrate the fact that there could be appread without wine, and yet one not devoid of "Afeast of reason and a flow of soul." Respectfully,

TWO BROTHERS.

Uncle Sam Issues a Warrant for Them Both Yesterday.

CHARGED WITH INTIMIDATING A WITNESS

A Good Showing at the Postoffice-Other Gossip from the Departments of the Custom House.

Two brothers in Union county are in deeper trouble than they have bargained for. They thought themselves guilty only of dis-orderly conduct, but the government has a decidedly more serious charge against them. Several days ago Will Satterfield, a United States witness against some moonshiners, was attacked in Union county. His assailants proved to be the Thomas boys, who were out on bond awaiting trial for illicit distilling. Satterfield was roughly handled and he reported the affair.

Mr. Chase states that the mortgages given secured indebtedness different from the ordinary indebtedness. They covered loans of money and papers that had been extended. He says that there is no truth in the report that the business would be continued by the New York Belting and Packing Company.

No firm or bank in Atlanta will lose anything by the failure. The unsecured creditors Yesterday warrants were issued for the arrest of the brothers on the charge of intimidating a United States witness-a penitentiary offense-and a deputy marshal instructed to execute them.

Together with the trial for moonshining the Union county men will have some bitter music to face at the next term of court.

An Important Docket.

An Important Docket.

The next criminal term opens on February 15th, and a calendar of felony cases only has been arranged for it.

The celebrated Elberton election case, charging five men with conspiracy and intimidating voters at the polls, will first be called.

Then will come the cases against Lassiter, of Walker county; Merrill, of Carroll, and Nelson D. Martin, of the same county, for robbing the mails.

The Stanley embezzling case will be heard next, and after that perjury, pension fraud and conspiracy charges will be put on in rapid succession.

Atlanta's Good Service. Postmaster J. R. Lewis is happy, and he Postmaster J. R. Lewis is happy, and he certainly has good cause for it.

The local postoffice has undoubtedly become wonderfully proficient.

The list of advertised letters will go to add to its reputation in that respect.

Two years ago, the first week of January showed a list of 576. Last January this had decreased to 442. The past week, however, showed certainly an agreeable surprise, when but 239 letters were necessary to be advertised. This is the case, in spite of the growing city and an increase of 30 per cent in the business of the postoffice in that time.

Whenever an address is insufficient, a communication is forwarded to the sender of the letter should his name be on the envelope, and more definite information asked for. As a result of this policy, 330 letters reached their proper owners week before last that would have gone to the dead letter office.

"If every one who corresponds would place fore last that would have gone to the dead letter office.

"If every one who corresponds would place his own address on the envelope," said Mr. E. F. Blodgett, yesterday, "we might have some weeks where we would not have to advertise a dozen letters."

It's a splendid record, anyhow, and one to feel proul of.

Here is an evidence of the growing business of Uncle Sam.

The count of the immediate delivery letters.

The count of the immediate delivery letters The count of the immediate delivery letters for local distribution during the past half year was concluded yesterday. In the corresponding period of 1889, the number was 3,743; for 1890 it had increased, to 4,705. For the six months just ending, the number jumped up to 5,863.

For Carriers.

There were ten who took the examination in writing from copy and dictation, arithmetic, reading addresses, the geography of Atlanta and deciphering abbreviations. It was conducted by Messrs. Blodgett and Rice of the local civil service board.

There are now thirty-four regular carriers and ten substitutes. The applicants yesterday who get a per centage of 70 or over, will be placed on the eligible list and stand a splendid chance now of a very early appointment.

Twenty-one warrants for the arrest of moon-shiners were yesterday approved by District Attorney Darnell, and they will be sent out to be served today.

It is one of the biggest records in many a month and will keep the deputies hustling.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS LARGE PAINFUL ULGER

Begin for the Year On Monday Morning Next.

BOARD OF EDUCATION MET YESTERDAY

And Did Some Very Important Work. Fifty Schools in the County-Teachers' Salaries Reduced.

There was a very important meeting of the Fulton county board of education yesterday. The meeting was held in Commiss Fain's office, the following members of the board being present: Adam S. Poole, south Atlanta; James M. Liddell, Easton; John P. Hellings, Hemphill; Moses Wood, Woodward; T. T. Thomason, Hammond.

The session was a very busy one, and some interesting work was disposed of. The common schools for the year 1892 were located. The public school at Howells, known as Cox's school, was discontinued. The school building was blown down about four months ago, and for this reason, there will be no school there this year. A new school was located at Walkersville. About fifty schools will receive the benefit of the school fund in Fulton county this year. A change was made in the salaries of teach ers in the public schools. For, 1891 the salary was from $25 to $50, owing to the grade. A cut of $5 in every grade was made, and for this year the salary will be from $20 to $45.

A uniform series of books for study in the county schools was adopted by the board, as required by an act of the legislature. required by an act of the legislature.

The books adopted by the boards are: Appleton's readers, geographies, arithmetics and copy books, Worcester's dictionaries, Brewer's "Science of Familiar Things," Bonnell's "Prose Composition," "Students' History of Georgia," by Lawton B. Evans, A. M., Quackenbos' or Reed and Kellogg's grammars, Swinton's, Webster's and Lippincott spellers, Derry's or L. A. Field's "History of the United States." For the first grade Appleton's arithmetic will L. A. Field's "History of the United States."
For the first grade Appleton's arithmetic will be used, Sanford's "Intermediate" in the second grade, Appleton's and Robison's "Progressive Practical" in the third and fourth respectively.
Teachers are urged to bring into special use Evan's "History of Georgia," that the pupils may learn much of their own state.

The school term of five months begins on next Monday. The term may be divided as agreed upon by teachers and patrons.
The Bible must be read in the public schools every day to the extent of not less than ten verses, by the teacher or pupils.

On Limb. Completely Helpless. Unable to Walk without Crutches. Flesh to the Bone Dropped Off.

Suffered Greatly. Doctors Failed to Relieve. Speedily Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

In the summer of 1888, a sore came on the fleshy part of my right leg, not far from the shin bone. It continued to increase in size, and eventually formed a large ulcer three inches long by two wide. I employed a regular physician, but he gave no relief. It was very painful, and eventually part of the flesh to the bone dropped out. After suffering with it for six months I was induced to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES. At this time I was completely helpless, unable to walk without crutches, and suffered greatly. In about a week the sore began to show signs of improvement, and eventually was completely healed. Another sore then broke out on my instep, but the same treatment soon cured that. I was indebted solely to the CUTICURA REMEDIES for my restoration to health. My leg is now as well as it ever was, and since then I have not been troubled with sores.

ed through my office during the past 12 months, I salute you!

May you each and all have a happy, prosperous voyage through this Anno Domini 1892. The business intrusted to my care in the future will be as diligently guarded as in the past. My office is well equipped. My assistants, in both the renting and sales department; are gentiemen—competent and reliable, and each department is thoroughly sytematized.

Mr. Rufus A. Howard will continue as cashier and bookleaper.

Mr. Rufus A. Howard will continue as cashier and bookkeeper.

Mr. Forrest Adair, assisted by Mr. John H. Groves, Mr. S. A. Swann and Mr. S. L. Jefferson will have charge of the rent department.

The salesmen are: Mr. T. B. Ferris, Jack Adair and Forrest Adair, who are always ready with conveyances to show property and assist you in selling or purchasing property.

The January coupons are being clipped; money easier, and the indications point to a better real estate trade.

I am ready to serve guardians, trustees, administrators, executors or others as auctioneer in legal or other public sales.

SAMUEL W. GOODE & CO.'S Real Estate Notes. "What about Atlanta real estate?" is a common

"What about Atlanta real estate?" is a common question. Read a word about it:

1. Atlanta has more than 100,000 population. Her stores, shops, business houses and office buildings were never more thoroughly filled with occupants—really none are vacant.

2. The new waterworks, the Georgia, Carolina and Northern railroad, the new street car lines, the immense number of large and imposing business buildings, like the Equitable, the Law buildings, the Peachtree opera house and others, and the thousands of less note for business and residence purposes, show a rapid, healthy growth, and assure solidity and permanent increase in real estate values.

3. Postoffice business, great increase in school population, actual names in the directory and the

3. Postoffice business, great increase in school population, actual names in the directory and the daily charters for new enterprises give tangible proof that the city grows rapidly, and that real estate will be in constant demand.

4. Banks, loan companies and various financial institutions are being established, and the local bank clearances show an enormous general business done here, and that Atlanta leads in this section.

5. The aggregate of Atlanta's wholesale and retail business is more than $100,000,000, and all lines of trade show increase. Her mule trade is the second largest in the world; her lumber industry goes to many millions; her fruit trade is enormous and enlarging; the city is an insurance center, a fertilizer center, a patent medicine center, a inanctal center, an educational center; and it leads all in the number and diversity of its manufactures, and it is the capital of a creat manufactures, and it is the capital of a grea manufactures, and it is the capital of a great state.

6. Being thus the center of the south by virtue of its manufactures and trade, sustained by won-derful and increasing railroad facilities, it must increase in business and population as these southern states increase and develop their industries, and he is an ignorant man who does not 100x300.

state continue to be in demand and increase in value.

7. We happened to hear Captain J. W. English, president of the American Trust and Banking Company, asked, "What he thought of Atlanta real estate?" and he replied: "I think well enough of it to keep myself $40,000 in debt to buy it." His faith has made him rich, and our faith is equally great, hence we can confidently advise our friends to invest in Atlanta property, and have no hesitancy in purchasing all we can ourselves. There is no reason, no room, for "croakers," and we invite you to call at our office and inspect our large and varied list of property, and to let us send you to see the property itself to buy it.
